1996-97 ATLANTA HAWKS SEASON PROSPECTUS

By Lenny Wilkens

As we prepare for the upcoming season, we have a lot to build on as an organization based on our finish from last season. Picked by many experts to not make it into post-season play, we accomplished that and more by making it to the Eastern Conference Semifinal round of the 1996 Playoffs, and we are looking to continuing that success as we prepare for the 1996-97 campaign.

I thought one of the areas we showed promise in during the playoffs came from our backcourt duo of Mookie Blaylock and Steve Smith. Both gave us a chance to extend our season, and without their contributions during the Indiana series in the First Round, we never would have made it into the Conference Semifinals.

Mookie earned All-Defensive honors for the second straight year, after finishing second overall in the NBA with 2.62 steals per game and he is certainly invaluable to us. Steve led us in scoring with an 18.1 average, and provided his best offensive performance to date during the First Round against Indiana, where he averaged a team-leading 22.8 ppg. If he maintains that consistency, he will continue to develop into one of the most productive shooting guards in this league.

With the mid-season acquisition of Christian Laettner, we added a tough-minded player with a great deal of talent, but a lack of success on the professional level. We'll rely on him at the power forward spot, where he'll likely post some consistent numbers for us. He experienced a lot during his NCAA Tournament appearances at Duke, and we feel he will help contribute to the Hawks' playoff fortunes in years to come.

One huge addition to our team will come at the center position, where we were fortunate enough to sign Dikembe Mutombo as a free agent. Dikembe immediately gives us an inside presence with his shot-blocking and rebounding abilities, as he's among the best in the NBA in those two critical areas. Our defense will definitely receive a big boost with him playing in the middle, with teams wary of his intimidating defensive skills.

While we drafted 7-4 Priest Lauderdale to play the center spot, he is not ready to start for us at this time. He will grow into that position with time and experience, and it is our hope that he will become a quality player for us.

One question involves our need to add an offensive small forward, a guy who can shoot the ball from the outside. I feel that would go a long way in helping us stretch the floor. We signed veterans Tyrone Corbin and Willie Burton. Along with returnee Ken Norman, we hope that group will fill the position successfully.

We proved a lot of people wrong last year, and to see the growth our players showed and the respect we gained as a franchise was very satisfying. We must continue to build on what we accomplished, and I believe we will with the continued upgrade of our personnel.

A LOOK BACK AT 1995-96

Lenny Wilkens

* Lenny Wilkens won his 1000th career NBA game on March 1, as the Hawks downed the Cleveland Cavaliers, 74-68 ... Wilkens coached his way into the playoffs for the 14th time in his career, and his fifth consecutive season ... He also served as head coach for the gold-medal-winning U.S. Men's Olympic Dream Team at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta.

* The Hawks reached the playoffs for the fourth straight season and posted a +.500 mark for the fourth consecutive time ... Atlanta is 188-140 (.573) over that span ... Their 20 road wins were just two from a team record (22) set during the 1986-87 season, and marked just the second time since '86-'87 the club has tallied at least 20 road wins.

* Atlanta set 10 season team records, including four on the defensive end ... Among those defensive records were: opponents' field goals attempted (6,419), opponents' free throws attempted (1,865), opponents' total rebounds (3,346) and opponents' rebound average (40.8) ... The Hawks' offensive record lows included fewest field goals made (2,985) and attempted (6,665), defensive rebounds (2,148), total rebounds (3,330), rebound average (40.6) and assists (1608).

* From January 7 through January 9, the team was stranded in Secaucus, New Jersey thanks to the Blizzard of '96, and even had a game postponed (Jan. 7 at the Nets) ... However, upon returning to Atlanta on the day of their game with Sacramento (Jan. 9), the Hawks reeled off 10 consecutive wins, improving their record to 24-17 by late January.

* After a 14-17 (.452) start to the season, Atlanta went 32-19 (.780) the remainder of the way ... The Hawks are now 35-12 (.745) at home after the All-Star break the last three seasons combined ... Atlanta's 32-19 record after January 9th was the fourth best mark in the Eastern Conference ... Listed below are the top four such marks in the Conference:

1. Chicago
2. Orlando
3. Indiana
4. ATLANTA

44- 7 (.863)
35-15 (.700)
32-19 (.627)

* Mookie Blaylock had another solid season, and when he played well, so did the Hawks ... When Atlanta won, Blaylock averaged 17.7 ppg (815), 6.5 apg (301), 4.5 rpg (206) and 2.8 spg (130), shooting .435 FGs (287-660), .397 3FGs (147-370) and .777 FTs (94-121) ... In Atlanta losses, he averaged 12.3 ppg (444), 4.7 apg (168), 3.4 rpg (122) and 2.1 spg (75), and made .372 FGs (167-449), .329 3FGs (79-240) and .660 FTs (31-47) ... Additionally, he swiped at least 200 steals for the fourth consecutive season, as his 212 steals equalled his club record, achieved during the 1993-94 season ... He also finished second in the NBA in steals for the second straight season and 19th in assists (5.9).

Mookie Blaylock

Christian Laettner

* On February 22, the Hawks engineered their third blockbuster trade in two years, acquiring Christian Laettner and Sean Rooks from the Minnesota Timberwolves in exchange for Andrew Lang and Spud Webb ... Following the trade, Laettner posted averages of 14.2 points, 7.9 rebounds and 0.9 blocks (.489 FGs, .823 FTs) ... He led the club in blocked shots (71), finishing second in scoring (16.4 ppg for the season), rebounding (7.3) and free throw percentage (.818).

* After Laettner's arrival, Atlanta posted an 18-12 mark, and he played especially well in his first postseason as a professional ... As a natural power forward playing against true centers Rik Smith (Indiana) and Shaquille O'Neal (Orlando), Laettner averaged 15.7 points, 6.9 rebounds and 1.2 steals (.484 FGs, .704 FTs), helping lead the Hawks to a second-round appearance.

* Steve Smith turned in his best season as a pro, posting a career high in scoring (a team-leading 18.1 ppg) ... He also averaged 4.1 rebounds and 2.8 assists ... He ranked second on the club in free throws made (318) and attempted (385) ... His .826 clip from the charity stripe ranked 30th in the NBA and put him atop the Atlanta career free throw percentage list (.835) ... He scored in double digits in 35 of his final 38 games, and led the team in scoring 33 times.

* Smith also had a strong playoff performance, helping carry Atlanta to the second round ... In the first round against Indiana, Smith was outstanding, averaging 22.8 ppg, 4.8 rpg, 2.0 apg, 2.0 bpg and 1.4 spg in 41.4 mins (.513 FGs, .600 3FGs, .810 FTs) ... In the Hawks' instrumental Game 1 win at Market Square Arena, Smith totalled 27 points on 10-15 FGs, 4-6 3FGs and 3-4 FTs ... In Round 2 against the Magic, he posted averages of 20.6 ppg, 4.4 apg, 3.4 rpg and 1.2 spg in 42.8 mins (.374 FGs, .278 3FGs, .806 FTs) ... As Atlanta faced elimination from the playoffs, his career-playoff high of 35 points in Game 4 against the Magic led Atlanta to a 104-99 win, sending the series back to Orlando for Game 5.

COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

NBA Community Programs

The NBA, its teams, players and coaches support programs dedicated to helping build a better future for all people, with a special emphasis on youth.

The 1996-97 season marks the debut of the NBA's league-wide community outreach initiative, the NBA TeamUp program. Its primary goal is to encourage youth to become actively involved in their communities. TeamUp helps young people develop an understanding of critical issues facing society and focuses on their ability to make a difference in the lives of others through community service projects. Program components include public service announcements, motivational visits by NBA spokesmen and players and a national youth service award.

This season the league also introduces the NBA Sportsmanship Initiative, a program designed to recognize and promote the importance of sportsmanship on the court. The nationwide program, implemented by the NBA in conjunction with the National Federation of State High School Associations, targets high school student-athletes participating in basketball. Each year, an NBA player will be selected to receive the NBA Sportsmanship Award for demonstrating sportsmanship throughout the season.

The NBA also continues its support of Black History Month, CARE, the Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday, the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse and Reading Is Fundamental through a variety of community outreach efforts.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams remain actively involved in supporting and implementing various programs that positively impact their local communities in the United States and Canada.

TeamUp

Making a difference in the community is the goal of the Atlanta Hawks and the foundation for the TeamUp program. This program encourages middle school students to take an active role in their communities -- from conducting canned food drives and toy drives to recycling cans and working at local senior citizen's homes and soup kitchens. Through the TeamUp program, Atlanta's youth are learning the importance of giving back to the community and making an impact in their communities at the same time. In addition to the community service component, the TeamUp program also encourages improvement in school attendance and academic achievement. This program is sponsored by Oscar Mayer, Scottish Rite Children's Medical Center, Sprite, the United States Army and MARTA.

Hawks Team Up to Support Community Organizations

Basketball is a game of teamwork. Teamwork relies on working together to accomplish a common goal. The Atlanta Hawks exemplify teamwork both on and off the court. On the court the Hawks are a team that goes head-to-head with other NBA teams. Off the court, the Hawks team up to support local community organizations.

The Atlanta Hawks were one of the first professional sports organizations to establish a foundation. Since its inception in 1987, the Atlanta Hawks Foundation has worked with hundreds of community organizations throughout metropolitan Atlanta, providing them with over one million dollars in donations and in-kind services (tickets, merchandise, player appearances, etc.). The Hawks recognize the importance of giving back to the community in which they work and play, demonstrating good sportsmanship both on and off the court.

The mission of the Foundation is: The Atlanta Hawks Foundation is dedicated to the betterment of Atlanta's youth -- to enhance their quality of life and encourage them to strive to reach attainable goals.

The Hawks are involved in the community through school-based programs, hospital visits, clinics, public service announcements and fundraisers. Although the programs are diverse, there is one unifying theme -- teaming up in the community.

COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

I LIKE ME BECAUSE I'M DRUG FREE

Atlanta's elementary school students learn about drug prevention through Harry the Hawk's "I Like Me Because I'm Drug Free" education program. Sponsored by Champion and Scottish Rite Children's Medical Center, Harry the Hawk's three-point drug prevention message -- education, recreation and physical fitness -- provides students with tools to stay drug free. Since its inception, more than 350,000 students have benefited from the program by hearing Harry's inspiring message. For more information on Harry the Hawks' "I Like Me Because I'm Drug Free" program, call the Hawks Community Affairs Department at: (404) 827-3800.

HOME TEAM

The Atlanta Hawks have teamed up with the Fannie Mae Foundation to form the "Home Team." The goal of the "Home Team" is to foster neighborhood revitalization and increase home ownership opportunities for low- and moderate-income families throughout the city of Atlanta. At the beginning of each season, Atlanta Hawks players, coaches and staff pick up hammers, scrapers and paint to renovate homes in the inner-city.

SUCCESS SEMINARS

Throughout the school year, Hawks General Manager Pete Babcock, with the support of local high-profile individuals, conducts Success Seminars at Atlanta high schools. These seminars are designed to encourage students to set goals and work hard to achieve them. The program features candid discussion by each of the panelists regarding their personal and professional successes and failures.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS CLINIC

Annually the Hawks conduct a clinic for athletes and coaches of the Georgia Special Olympics basketball teams. Hawks players and coaches lead clinics, skill drills and even participate in 5-on-5 games with Special Olympians.

HOLIDAY EFFORTS

As the holidays approach, members of the Hawks team act as Santa's helpers to coordinate various holiday activities. Team efforts include an annual canned food drive as well as an annual toy drive. Players and coaches don Santa hats and visit local children's hospital and youth centers to provide cheer and distribute toys.

CHARITY ASSIST

Throughout the season, thousands of individuals from local community organizations attend Hawks basketball games through ticket donations from the Hawks Community Affairs Department. Season ticket holders also donate unused tickets for distribution to local organizations. In addition, the Hawks provide tickets to the Tickets for Kids program sponsored by Ticketmaster and the Mayor's Office.

ATLANTA HAWKS COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

PLAYER CORNERS

Annually, several Hawks players purchase tickets to 20 home games which are distributed to Metro Atlanta youth organizations. In addition to attending the game, the kids receive a t-shirt of the player that provided the tickets. Last season, Mookie's Trap and Smitty's City allowed over 1,600 kids to catch some NBA action.

PSAs

Hawks players and coaches take time out of their schedules to heighten awareness surrounding critical and topical issues facing today's youth and society. The Hawks have taped Public Service Announcements (PSAs) on behalf of the American Cancer Society, Georgia Center for Children, Georgia Special Olympics, Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Atlanta, TEAM Georgia, WSB-TV's Stop the Violence campaign and WATL's QUEST program. PSA topics have included: the importance of not smoking, physical fitness and recreation, non-violence, the importance of education and more.

RIGHT ON PAR

Personalities from the entertainment and sports worlds united with Lenny Wilkens and the Atlanta Hawks Foundation to raise money for Atlanta's youth via the Lenny Wilkens Golf & Tennis Classic. Proceeds from the 1996 event benefited the Georgia Center for Children, Scottish Rite Children's Medical Center and the Atlanta Hawks' "TeamUp" and "I Like Me Because I'm Drug Free" Programs. Contributions from sponsors including Metro Atlanta Cadillac Dealers, Coca-Cola, Delta Air Lines, Outback Steakhouse, Chateau Elan and Gatorade helped make this event successful.

THE LADY HAWKS

The Lady Hawks wives association participates in a variety of community activities. The Lady Hawks have heightened awareness of women's issues by working to support the Fairhaven Inn, a safe harbor for survivors of domestic violence, and Grady's Breast Health Initiative. In addition, the wives have participated in Egleston's Festival of Trees, worked with the Hawks adopted school and delivered toys and gifts during the holidays.

"It's important for us to give back to the community, and what better way than to encourage and support today's youth. They will become tomorrow's leaders."

-Lenny Wilkens

ATLANTA HAWKS DANCE TEAM

For over seven seasons, the Atlanta Hawks Dance team has been performing dynamic routines to energize the Omni crowd. Led by choreographer Jimmy Locust, whose credits include work with Michael Jackson, Janet Jackson, Paula Abdul, and Billy Idol, the team's repertoire varies from hip hop and rhythm and blues to Broadway musicals and classical favorites. This summer, members of the 1995-96 Dance Team performed in the Opening Ceremonies of the Centennial Olympic Games.

The Dance Team's activities don't stop with choreographed dance routines. They serve as ambassadors to the community, supporting the community affairs outreach efforts of the Hawks organization. From hosting school assemblies and visiting hospitalized children to working with local charities, the Atlanta Hawks Dance team gives back to the community, serving as role models for children throughout Atlanta.

The Atlanta Hawks Dance team is available for paid appearances. If you are interested, please contact the Atlanta Hawks marketing department at (404) 827-3800.

Turner began his business career as an account executive for Turner Advertising Company, and became president and chief operating officer in 1963. Foreseeing the potential of satellite and cable technology over 20 years ago, Turner entered the television business in 1970 with the purchase of Channel 17, an Atlanta independent UHF television station. Six years later, on December 17, 1976, he originated the "superstation" concept, transmitting the station's signal to cable systems nationwide via satellite. Turner diversified the Company in January (14th) 1976 by purchasing Major League Baseball's Atlanta Braves. On January 3, 1977, TBS acquired a limited partnership in the National Basketball Association's Atlanta Hawks.

On June 1, 1980, Turner inaugurated CNN, the world's first live, in-depth, round-the-clock, all-news television network. A second all-news service, Headline News, began operation on January 1, 1982 offering updated newscasts every half-hour. CNN International, launched in September 1985 as the Company's global news service, is distributed in more than 210 countries and territories worldwide.

Turner originated the Goodwill Games in 1985 and, in partnership with the former Soviet Union, organized the quadrennial, multi-sport, international, world-class competition. The inaugural Goodwill Games were held in July 1986 in Moscow and were followed by the 1990 Games in Seattle, Washington and the 1994 Games in St. Petersburg, Russia. The 1998 Games will be held in the New York City metropolitan area.

In March 1986, TBS acquired the MGM Entertainment Company with assets including more than 3,300 feature films and the MGM theatrical motion picture and television production businesses. Later that year, TBS sold portions of MGM and formed Turner Entertainment Company (TEC) to manage the MGM library of film and television properties.

The TEC library formed the initial programming cornerstone of TNT, which launched on October 3, 1988. TNT provides basic-cable viewers with high-quality original productions, the finest classic films and major sporting events. A separate version of TNT is customized for Latin America and the Caribbean, with programming available in English, Spanish or Portuguese.

The Company's fifth network, SportSouth, debuted on August 29, 1990. The regional sports network features professional, collegiate and amateur events, and serves seven states in the Southeast.

In December 1991, Turner acquired the entertainment assets of Hanna-Barbera Cartoons, including their 3,000-episode library, distribution rights and production facilities. The Hanna-Barbera collection includes such popular characters as the Flintstones, Yogi Bear, Scooby Doo and the Jetsons. On October 1, 1992, Turner launched the Cartoon Network, the world's first 24-hour, all-animation television service showcasing the Company's extensive library of cartoons. Cartoon Network in Latin America was launched on April 30, 1994, offering viewers in Latin American and the Caribbean 24 hours of cartoons in three languages. TNT and Cartoon Network were launched in Europe on September 17, 1993, offering classic films and animation programming in seven languages. TNT & Cartoon Network in Asia Pacific, launched October 6, 1994, provides programming in English, with some programs dubbed or subtitled in Mandarin and Thai.

Castle Rock Entertainment joined the Company in December 1993. Castle Rock is the television and motion picture producer whose releases include In the Line of Fire, When Harry Met Sally, City Slickers, The Shawshank Redemption, The American President and the television series, Seinfeld. In January 1994, Turner Broadcasting merged with New Line Cinema, the leading independent producer and distributor of motion pictures including The Mask, Dumb and Dumber and Hoop Dreams. April 1994 marked the launch of Turner Classic Movies (TCM), a 24-hour commercial-free network featuring the Company's library of film greats.

Turner Broadcasting continued to expand its news division with the creation of CNN Radio and CNN Airport Network, which provides programming for airline travelers in 25 U.S. airports, and CNN Interactive, the division responsible for multimedia/on-line news production and distribution. CNNfn — the financial network was launched in December 1995, providing 12 hours of original programming focusing on market news, personal finance, consumer issues and global business developments.

Major subsidiaries of TNS include Turner Home Entertainment, started in 1987 to service the home video, publishing, retail, new media and product-licensing markets; Turner International, which markets the Company's programming in Latin America and Asia Pacific; Turner Broadcasting Ltd., which markets the Company's programming in Europe and Africa; Turner Program Services, the U.S. syndication arm; Turner Original Productions, which serves as a non-fiction development and production unit; Turner Pictures, one of the Company's three motion picture arms; Turner Sports, which produces sports events and sports television coverage for Turner's entertainment networks; and World Championship Wrestling.

Turner is an active environmentalist and has received numerous civic and industry awards and honors, including being named Time Magazine's 1991 Man of the Year. He is also known as a superior yachtsman, having won national and world sailing titles, including a successful defense of the 1977 America's Cup, the 1979 Fastnet Trophy and four Yachtsman of the Year awards. In October 1995, Turner accepted, on behalf of the team, the Atlanta Braves' first World Championship trophy. He is married to the former actress, community activist and businesswoman Jane Fonda.

MICHAEL GEARON

CHAIRMAN, BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Next to trainer Joe O'Toole, the only individual with more involvement with the Hawks franchise over the past two decades is Michael Gearon, whose two-week stay has developed into an active role with the team. The 62-year-old Gearon continues the tasks he assumed in 1986 as the Hawks' Chairman of the Board of Directors.

In his 20th year with the club he has served in several capacities, among them the Hawks' representative on the NBA Board of Directors, and for two seasons (1977-79), Gearon was Atlanta's president and general manager.

During his stint as general manager, he engineered the trades that brought Tom McMillen and the late Terry Furlow to Atlanta while overseeing a team that made the NBA Playoffs in each of his two seasons as GM. With the acquisition of Dan Roundfield, Gearon's efforts paid off as Roundfield earned three All-Star Game selections.

Before his association with the Hawks, Gearon built one of the top real estate development companies in the United States, Gearon and Company, which implemented and executed the concept of office parks.

Three well-known Gearon projects in the Atlanta area include Executive Park, Perimeter Center, and Coastal States, and through that association Gearon and Company became known as one of America's quality development companies.

In the early '70s, Gearon sold his interest in the development company to his partners in order to spend more time with his family and to travel. His association with Ted Turner through joint business ventures led to his accepting the position with the Hawks in 1977.

A courtside regular, and perhaps the Hawks' most ardent supporter, J. Michael Gearon is the father of three children, Tierney, Michael Jr., and Timothy. He and his wife Kin make their home in the north-east Atlanta area.

STAN KASTEN

PRESIDENT, ATLANTA HAWKS

Directing a professional sports organization is never easy, and while it is quite a task to succeed with two franchises, Hawks President Stan Kasten is now attempting to reach the same level of success he earned with the Atlanta Braves for the Atlanta Hawks.

Under his guidance, the Braves resurgence through the '90s culminated with the city of Atlanta gaining its first professional sports championship in 1995. Taking the necessary steps to earn that distinction in basketball, this past off-season Kasten, along with VP/General Manager Pete Babcock, signed free agent All-Star center Dikembe Mutombo, and re-signed guard Steve Smith -- progress towards the goal of bringing an NBA championship to the community.

One of sports' most respected executives, Kasten begins his 19th season with the Hawks. In addition to his present position, the 44-year-old has also served as President of the Braves, and TBS Vice President for Sports Teams since 1986.

The NBA's only back-to-back Executive of the Year (1986 and 1987), Kasten began his career as legal counsel for both the Hawks and Braves in 1976, before he was named Assistant General Manager of the Hawks, a position he held for two seasons (1977-79).

In November 1979 he became the youngest General Manager in NBA annals at the age of 27, and held the position for 11 seasons, until he hired former Denver executive Pete Babcock as his replacement in February 1990. Under his direction, the Hawks made tremendous strides on the court and at the gate over the latter half of the 1980's, as the team posted four straight 50-win seasons and playoff berths, and set team records in attendance.

His aggressiveness as General Manager proved beneficial in many of his dealings with other NBA clubs, which include the acquisition and signing of Dominique Wilkins in 1982, while sending two players (John Drew and Freeman Williams) and cash to Utah, obtaining Rory Sparrow from New Jersey in 1981 for a fourth-round pick, and the rights to Antoine Carr, Cliff Livingston and two future picks from Detroit in exchange for Dan Roundfield in 1984.

In a surprising, yet beneficial move in 1984-85, Kasten engineered the move of 12 Atlanta home games to New Orleans, which resulted in more than $1 million to the franchise.

Active in international competition in his role with TBS, he was instrumental in the development of the four-city American/Soviet All-Star team tour that brought American and Soviet players together on the same team for the first time, and in the summer of 1988, the Hawks were the first NBA team to visit the U.S.S.R.

Kasten, who has served on the NBA's Marketing Committee, Player Pension Committee and Expansion Committee, is also a member of the Hawks' Board of Directors, a member of the NBA Board of Governors, and currently serves on the NBA Labor Committee. He is a former trustee of the Basketball Hall of Fame.

In addition to his responsibilities with the Braves, he has served as chairman of the Player Personal Development Committee and is currently on the Expansion Committee and the Labor Negotiating Committee. Ironically, Kasten's association with owner Ted Turner came as a result of baseball. They became acquainted at a Braves-Cardinals game in 1976 in St. Louis, when Kasten was celebrating his graduation from law school with a tour of Major League baseball parks. Months later he joined both clubs as legal counsel.

Born February 1, 1952 in Lakewood, New Jersey, Kasten attended Rutgers University before transferring to New York University (NYU) when he graduated in 1973 with a degree in psychology, earned Magna Cum Laude honors and was chosen Phi Beta Kappa. He received a Juris Doctor degree from Columbia Law School in 1976.

Stan and his wife Helen live in Sandy Springs with their four children, Alana, Corey, Sherry, and Jay. He speaks regularly to legal associations throughout the country and is on the Board of Directors of the Sports Lawyers Association.

LEE DOUGLAS

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Entering his seventh season as Executive Vice President and 18th overall with the Hawks is Lee Douglas. He directs the club's business, marketing, media and community relations, broadcasting and ticket operations departments.

Douglas was named to his present position in November 1989 by team president Stan Kasten.

Since March 1992, Douglas has also been involved with the Atlanta Braves in an advisory capacity, assisting team president Stan Kasten as a Vice President.

Douglas was instrumental in arranging Atlanta's 55-game (non-national network) television package with local Atlanta affiliate WATL-TV and Turner's regional sports station, SportSouth.

In addition to those duties, he has spent time on the Board of Directors of the Atlanta Hawks Foundation since its formation nine years ago. The Foundation's responsibilities have included a yearly Benefit Dinner and Auction, a localized version of the Stay In School and the Harry the Hawk "I Like Me Because I'm Drug Free" programs.

Douglas has also served a two-year stint on the inaugural Marketing Advisory Board of NBA Properties. That Advisory Board was instrumental in forming the guidelines for team usage of trademarks in the local marketplace.

Since joining the Hawks in 1978, the 44-year-old Douglas has held positions as sales representative, director of sales, director of marketing, vice president/marketing, and vice president/assistant general manager until his most recent position.

A 1974 graduate (industrial management) of Georgia Tech, he earned his MBA in 1978 from Georgia State University.

Douglas and his wife Nancy live in Atlanta with their two children, Brent and Kelly. Charles Lee Douglas was born August 23, 1952 in Atlanta.

FRONT OFFICE PERSONNEL

PETE BABCOCK

VICE PRESIDENT/GENERAL MANAGER

One of the league's highly-respected front office individuals, Pete Babcock is in his seventh season as the Hawks' Vice President and General Manager.

Named to his current position on February 14, 1990, Babcock took over the basketball operational duties from Stan Kasten, who retained his title of team president.

The 47-year-old Babcock, who came to Atlanta following six years with the Denver Nuggets, oversees the daily management and direction of the basketball team, including the procurement of players through trades, free agency and the collegiate draft.

In addition to his responsibilities with the Hawks, Babcock serves on the Steering Committee for Competition and Rules.

He was also appointed last season to the prestigious Senior National Team Committee who selected the 1996 U.S. Olympic Men's Basketball team and coaching staff to compete in the Atlanta Olympic Games.

During his tenure, the Hawks have won one division championship and participated in 29 playoff games. After a franchise-tying 57-25 finish in 1993-94, Babcock was a runner-up for the second time in his career for the NBA Executive of the Year award.

Following six years of regional scouting for the New Orleans Jazz, Los Angeles Lakers and Milwaukee Bucks, Babcock was hired by the San Diego Clippers in 1980 as an assistant coach and was elevated to Director of Player Personnel two years later. In 1984, he became Vice President of Basketball Operations.

A political science major at Arizona State (graduated in 1971), he earned his masters from ASU in 1976. Instead of pursuing his political aspirations, he began coaching and teaching at the high school level in Phoenix.

Actively involved in community-related matters, Babcock has worked on substance abuse and gang-related issues, the Special Olympics and many youth-oriented programs. Among the programs he has been involved in is the Success Seminars for high school students, and male-mentoring programs for elementary school students throughout metro Atlanta. Recognizing that work, he received the 1996 "Golden Apple Award" from the Atlanta Public Schools.

Additionally, Babcock was asked to assist in writing a position paper for the White House on "Building Character Through Sport," and consulted with Vice President Al Gore on concepts and programs to reduce violence among our youth.

In 1989, he spoke before a Congressional committee on the topic of increasing the budget for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, and was honored in a White House ceremony by President Ronald Reagan for his contributions in assisting Native American youth.

During the 1992-93 season, Babcock was named Sports Personality of the Year by the Georgia Special Olympics for his on-going involvement with Special Olympics.

He currently serves on the board of directors of the Georgia Alliance for Children and Yes! Atlanta as well as the Advisory Board for the Special Olympics.

Peter Hartz Babcock, featured in Andy Andrews' compilation of success stories book, "Storms of Perfection," was born May 12, 1949 in Bangor, Maine. He and his wife Yo have two daughters, Amy and Katie, and they live in Marietta. His brothers are also involved in NBA basketball operations, as Rob is the director of player personnel for the Minnesota Timberwolves, and Dave is a scout for the New Jersey Nets.

HEAD COACH

For an individual who never considered coaching, or even playing in the NBA a career endeavor, Lenny Wilkens continues to eclipse the standards set before him in a dignified manner. While his contributions to the game are legendary and have extended over five decades, he is not about to rest on those accomplishments. The drive is still there, and the passion to bring a world championship to the city of Atlanta remains his ultimate goal.

Following a busy off-season, Wilkens has reason to feel optimistic. He enters his third season in Atlanta with four strong pieces to challenge for the NBA title: the acquisition of Dikembe Mutombo gives the Hawks a strong presence in the middle; the re-signing of Steve Smith solidifies Atlanta's backcourt for years to come; Mookie Blaylock should continue his tenacious defensive pressure and leadership; and the with the addition of Mutombo, it allows Christian Laettner to move to his more natural position (power forward) which gives the Hawks more flexibility upfront.

Wilkens and the Hawks finished the 1995-96 season with a 46-36 record, and made it to the second round of the 1996 NBA Playoffs -- surprising many who believed the team would not make it to the post-season. Atlanta reached the playoffs for the third straight season, and disposed of first round nemesis Indiana in five games before falling to Orlando in the Eastern Conference semifinals.

Last summer, Wilkens added to his coaching resume after leading the United States Men's Basketball Team to a first place finish in the Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta, as "Dream Team III" swept past the competition enroute to winning the gold medal. He previously served as an assistant under Chuck Daly on the original "Dream Team" which earned Olympic gold in 1992 (Barcelona, Spain).

Entering his 24th season as a head coach, Wilkens has compiled a career record of 1,014-850 (.544), and after three years with the Hawks he has a mark of 145-101 (.590). In addition to being the NBA's winningest coach (it happened on January 6, 1995, when he surpassed Arnold "Red" Auerbach's previous total of 938 wins), he also became the first in the league to reach 1,000 victories last year when the Hawks beat his former team, the Cleveland Cavaliers, 74-68 (March 1).

With Atlanta's playoff appearance a year ago, it was the 14th time in his career that a Wilkens-coached team made it to the NBA Playoffs. With his career playoff coaching record at 64-70 (.478), Wilkens' 64 wins rank him seventh on the all-time NBA playoff wins list, and third among active coaches. He has led his teams into the playoffs in 14 of his last 18 years as a head coach.

The seventh full-time head coach in Hawks history, Wilkens is the fourth-winningest coach in Atlanta behind Richie Guerin (327 wins), Michael Fratello (324) and Hubie Brown (199).

He holds the distinction of having participated in more games (3,152 as he begins the 1996-97 season) as a player and/or head coach than anyone else in league history (when you factor in regular season, playoff and all-star games). Wilkens played in 1,150 games over his 15-year NBA career, and at the end of last season coached in 2,002 games. In reference to regular season games only, he has coached in 1,864 games, which ranks him third on the all-time list of games coached.

With the best first-year finish in Hawks history -- a franchise-tying 57-25 record in 1993-94, Wilkens earned the first of many of his post-season awards on April 25, 1994, when he was named Basketball Weekly's Coach of the Year. In addition to also receiving similar honors from The Sporting News, Basketball Digest and the 1994 Victor Award from the City of Hope/Sport Magazine, Wilkens was the recipient of the 1994 IBM/NBA Coach of the Year award for the first time in his career.

During a seven-year career in Cleveland, Wilkens guided the Cavaliers to 50 or more wins on three occasions, including a record of 54-28 (.659) in his final year (1992-93). He resigned his position as head coach on May 24, 1993, a few days after the Cavs were eliminated by the Chicago Bulls in the Eastern Conference second round playoff series.

Under Wilkens, the Cavs recorded one of the greatest resurgences in NBA history. He took a franchise that won 29 games in 1985-86 and transformed it into a veteran team with three All-Stars that posted 50+ wins in three of his last five seasons, including franchise records of 57 wins in 1988-89 and 1991-92. In addition, Cleveland qualified for the playoffs in five of his last six seasons, while ascending to the 1992 Eastern Conference Finals.

The 1992-93 campaign was one of chart-climbing for Wilkens, who on March 26 at Philadelphia became the winningest coach in Cleveland history, as he notched win 305 to surpass Bill Fitch (Wilkens concluded his seven Cavalier years with a 316-258 (.551) record).

He joined the Cavaliers in June 1986, becoming the 10th coach in the history of the franchise, after serving as the General Manager of the Seattle SuperSonics during the 1985-86 season. He also served as a player-coach for five seasons (1969-76).

In addition to serving as head coach of four NBA All-Star Games (most recently Eastern Conference coach in the 1994 All-Star Game in Minneapolis, where he evened his coaching record at 2-2), Wilkens received his most memorable honor on May 9, 1990 when he was enshrined in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Massachusetts.

He previously served as a player-coach for Seattle in 1969-72, and for the Portland Trail Blazers from 1974-75. He returned to Seattle as head coach midway through the 1977-78 season, and remained as the head coach through the 1984-85 campaign before moving to the front office as general manager.

The Sonics made the playoffs in six of the last eight seasons under Wilkens. They advanced to the World Championship series in 1978 and won the NBA Championship in 1979, with a 4-1 series victory over the Washington Bullets.

Wilkens enjoyed a 15-year playing career in the NBA, and he ranks among the all-time leaders in assists, games played, and free throws made. He was named Most Valuable Player of the 1971 All-Star Game in San Diego.

A first-round choice in the 1960 Draft, Wilkens spent his first eight NBA season as a member of the St. Louis Hawks. In 1968, Wilkens was traded to Seattle (for Walt Hazzard), where he spent the next four seasons. Then in 1972, he became a member of the Cavs when he was acquired along with Barry Clemens in exchange for Butch Beard. Wilkens represented the Cavaliers in the 1973 All-Star Game, in a season when he averaged 20.5 points and 8.4 assists per game. He concluded his playing career with the Trail Blazers in the 1974-75 season as a player-coach.

Wilkens played his college ball at Providence College, where he led his freshman team to a 23-0 record. In his junior year, the Friars lost in the semifinals of the National Invitational Tournament, while in his senior season (1959-60), Providence reached the NIT Finals before losing to Bradley. He was named the tourney's MVP and was a first-team selection to two All-America teams. Wilkens was named the Outstanding Player in the New England area in 1960, and in 1961 he was named to the Rhode Island Heritage Hall of Fame. He graduated from Providence College with a degree in economics, and in 1988 received an honorary doctorate in humanities from his alma mater. In 1995, he was awarded a similar degree from Seattle University.

In March 1988, he was selected to the NIT-NIKE Hall of Fame, joining such basketball legends as George Mikan, Tom Gola, Walt Frazier, Ernie Calverly, Maurice Stokes, Ed Macauley, and Larry Bird. He has also been elected to the New York City Basketball Hall of Fame and the Brooklyn (NY) Hall of Fame.

In 1979, Wilkens received several awards: the City of Hope Sportsman of the Year, the Congressional Black Caucus Coach of the year, the CBS Coach of the Year and the Black Publisher of America Coach of the Year. In 1980, he received the Urban League-Whitney Young Outstanding Citizen Award and was awarded a Doctorate of Humanities degree from Providence.

A former vice president of the NBA Players Association (1961-69), Wilkens is currently the president of the NBA Coaches Association.

Active in many community-related functions, Wilkens has donated his time and services to the following groups: the Odessa Brown Children's Clinic in Seattle, the Seattle Community College, Shoes for Kids in Cleveland, the Arthur Ashe Foundation, the March of Dimes, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Georgia Center for Children, and the Atlanta Hawks Foundation.

In August 1994, he joined several NBA executives and players (including current Hawks center Dikembe Mutombo) on a week-long trip to South Africa, where they conducted clinics and workshops with young people and coaches from the Capetown and Johannesburg areas. Additionally, he served as the honorary chairman for the Atlanta Make-A-Wish Foundation Ball which took place this past September.

Leonard Randolph Wilkens was born October 28, 1937 in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, New York. He served in the Army Quartermaster Corps as a Second Lieutenant from May 1961 to November 1962. Lenny and his wife Marilyn have three children (Leesha, Randy and Jamee), and one grandchild (Ashley), and during the season they reside in Atlanta.

DICK HELM

ASSISTANT COACH

Beginning his fourth year in Atlanta and 12th with Head Coach Lenny Wilkens, is assistant coach Dick Helm. Helm has previously spent time as an assistant with Wilkens on both the Cleveland Cavaliers' (seven years) and the Seattle SuperSonics' (one year) coaching staffs.

Helm brings over 30 years of basketball experience to the Hawks' bench and understands the game from both a playing and instructional perspective.

A graduate of Illinois' Wheaton College in 1955, Helm served as class president while gathering honors in basketball, football and track. A member of Wheaton's "Hall of Honor," he always played on a winning team for the Crusaders.

Following graduation, Helm earned a master's degree in administration of education and physical education from Michigan State University before serving a two-year stint in the U.S. Army at Fort Bragg, NC. His coaching career began at Wheaton's Central High School. After 14 successful years as both a high school coach and administrator, Helm entered the collegiate ranks to serve as head basketball coach and athletic director for the Judson College Eagles in Elgin, IL.

After three years at Judson, Helm returned to Wheaton College as head basketball coach for an eight-year stint, 20 years following his graduation. During the 1983-84 season, he served as assistant basketball coach for North Central College in Naperville, Illinois, helping the Cardinals to their first-ever NCAA Division III tournament appearance while at the same time scouting for the Seattle SuperSonics. To recognize his contribution to the sport of basketball in Illinois, Helm was named to the Illinois Basketball Hall of Fame in April 1988. During the fall of 1992, he was elected to the Tuscola, Illinois High School Hall of Fame for athletics.

In the summers of 1990 and 1991, he was enlisted to make a tour of Western Australia as he conducted coaching clinics and shared his basketball expertise with the Perth Wildcats and other State League basketball teams. After his initial visit, the Perth Wildcats went on to win the Australian National Basketball title in the 1990-91 and 1991-92 seasons.

Helm has written columns for Letterman Magazine and the National Association of Basketball coaches Journal. He is an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (F.C.A.) and has served as a speaker for the National Football League and Major League Baseball Chapels. In May 1990 Helm was honored by the F.C.A. as the 1990 Ohio Sportsman of the Year.

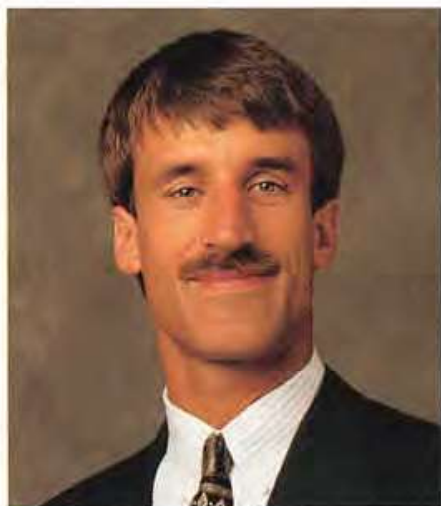

Helm, 63 (born February 9, 1933), and his wife Andrea are the parents of seven children - four sons and three daughters: Robyn, David, Doug, Karen, Steve, Stan and Amy.

BILL HANZLIK

ASSISTANT COACH

With the hopes of bringing the same enthusiasm and competitiveness he displayed as a player to Lenny Wilkens' staff, Bill Hanzlik begins his first season as an assistant coach with the Hawks, replacing Jerry Powell, who resigned from the staff due to personal reasons on June 10.

The 38-year-old Hanzlik, who comes to Atlanta after five years as an assistant on Allan Bristow's staff in Charlotte, recorded 11 seasons in the NBA as a player with the Seattle Supersonics and Denver Nuggets before joining the coaching ranks.

Selected by the Supersonics with the 20th overall selection in the 1980 Draft, Hanzlik spent two seasons with Seattle before being traded, along with a first-rounder, to the Nuggets for David Thompson in 1982. Known as one of the NBA's best defensive and most versatile players during his tenure, Hanzlik saw action at all five positions at one time or another in his career.

A 7.2 career scorer, Hanzlik was named to the NBA's All-Defensive second team in 1985-86, and the following season saw him produce his best season with averages of 13.0 points and 3.5 rebounds. He spent his final eight seasons in Denver, but was sidelined with back problems for most of his last two years. Hanzlik tallied a career-high 33 points against Dallas on November 14, 1986. His #24 jersey was retired by the Nuggets when the Hornets visited Denver on November 26, 1991.

As a collegian, Hanzlik played four years at Notre Dame and finished with a 5.9 career scoring average. In his final season he was selected as team co-captain, and he responded with a career-high 7.5 points per game. In 1980, he earned a spot on the U.S. Men's Olympic team which was part of the United States boycott of the 1980 Summer Olympic Games.

Born December 6, 1957 in Middletown, Ohio, William Henry Hanzlik attended Beloit Memorial High School in Beloit, Wisconsin, and majored in mechanical engineering at Notre Dame. Hanzlik and his wife Maribeth are parents of four children — Meghan, Molly, Robby and Gillian.

STAN ALBECK,

ASSISTANT COACH/SCOUT

A newcomer to the Hawks basketball operations staff is Stan Albeck, who joins the club as an assistant coach and advance scout. He fills the position vacated by the departure of Jack Nolan, who joined the Dallas Mavericks in a similar capacity.

Albeck spent the past season as an assistant coach with the New Jersey Nets, under then-coach Butch Beard. A head coach previously himself, Albeck manned the sidelines for the Cleveland Cavaliers (1979-80), San Antonio Spurs (1980-83), New Jersey Nets (1983-85), and the Chicago Bulls (1985-86). In seven seasons on the bench, he compiled a 307-267 record (.535 winning percentage). Since leaving the head coaching ranks, Albeck, 65, scouted professional and collegiate games for several teams on various occasions (San Antonio, Philadelphia, LA Lakers and Milwaukee) before joining the Nets last season.

His first NBA coaching job came with the Cavaliers in 1979-80, and Albeck coached the squad to their best finish (37-45) in seven seasons. He moved on to San Antonio the following season and led the Spurs to three consecutive Midwest Conference (now Division) championships, posting a 153-93 record, and taking the team to the playoffs in each of his years three.

After two playoff seasons with the Nets (an 87-77 regular season record), Albeck spent one season in Chicago, coaching the Bulls to the playoffs with a 30-52 mark in Michael Jordan's rookie season.

Before becoming an NBA head coach, Albeck spent nine seasons as an assistant coach in the NBA and ABA under such notable figures and Jerry West, Hubie Brown, Wilt Chamberlain, K.C. Jones and Alex Hannam. Additionally, he was the head coach of the Denver Rockets during their NBA existence in 1970-71, finishing with a 27-44 mark.

He also spent 14 years on the collegiate level as a head coach at the University of Denver (1968-70), Northern Michigan (1957-68), and Adrian College (1956-57). His overall college coaching record was 209-117 (.641).

Born on May 17, 1931 in Chenoa, Illinois, Albeck earned his undergraduate degree from Bradley University in 1955, and gained a masters degree from Michigan State in 1956. He and his wife Phyllis have five children (Gary, Sheree, Jon, Roger, and Julie).

Wortman's duties include the evaluation of personnel as it relates to basketball operations, in addition to draft preparation, and monitoring the CBA and European basketball leagues.

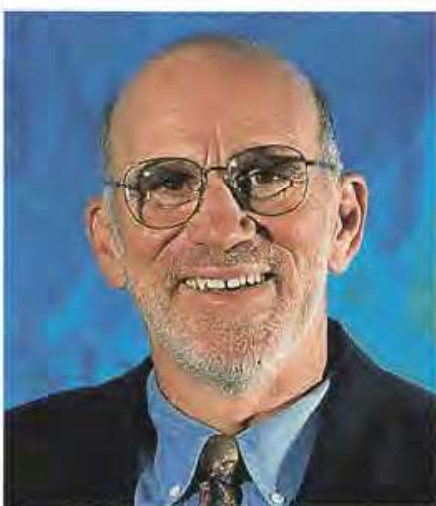

Wortman, 55, came to Atlanta from the Seattle SuperSonics, where he spent eight years (1984-92) in a similar capacity. Among the Seattle players he had scouted and provided input towards their selection include Xavier McDaniel, Nate McMillan, Shawn Kemp and Derrick McKey.

A 1964 graduate (education) of Seattle Pacific University, he began his professional career as an assistant coach at his alma mater under then-head coach Les Habegger and prior to that stint, spent four years as the head coach at Kentridge High School in Kent, Washington.

He assisted the SuperSonics' scouting department on a part-time basis for several years prior to assuming his former full-time position.

Wortman has gained additional coaching experience from his work in the Los Angeles Summer Leagues, where he was named Coach of the Year in the summer of 1988 after guiding the Sonics' entry to the league title.

He has two children, Brock and Michelle, and currently resides in Marietta with wife Antje and stepson, Tony. Wortman was born April 18, 1941 in Bremerton, Washington.

Veteran NBA trainer Joe O'Toole, who has logged 2,214 straight games at his position, is in his 28th season with the club. His three decades with the Atlanta franchise rank as the longest tenure of any member of the organization. In addition, his seniority among NBA's trainers finds him second by two years behind Phoenix's Joe Proski.

The 60-year-old O'Toole has a lengthy list of achievements from his years with the Hawks, including becoming the first trainer to be named recipient of the NBA's J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award by the Professional Basketball Writers Association of America (PBWAA) following the 1994-95 season. The award has been presented annually since 1975 by the PBWAA to an NBA player, coach or trainer in recognition of outstanding community service.

This past summer, O'Toole was honored by the National Athletic Trainers' Association as a recipient of the organization's Most Distinguished Athletic Trainer Award. The award is viewed as a means of recognizing a larger percentage of the NATA's membership for their dedication and service to the profession of athletic training.

The inaugural winner of the Trainer of the Year award from the National Basketball Trainers Association (NBTA) in 1983, O'Toole has served as one of the trainers for the NBA All-Star Game on four occasions (1975, 1978, 1990 and 1993), and was the trainer and traveling secretary on the 1987 NBA exhibition tour for the American/Soviet All-Star team.

In 1990, he was recognized by the NBA's Society of Physicians with the Irwin W. Vinnick Memorial Award, for his contributions to the game — the only trainer ever to receive that honor.

A member of the NBTA's Executive Committee for 19 seasons, O'Toole served as chairman of the organization for four years and is also a member of the NBA Commissioner's Drug Prevention and Education Committee.

He was a two-sport (football and track) athlete at Cortland State, where he graduated in 1960 with a degree in physical education. O'Toole was honored by his alma mater in 1994, when he was inducted into the Cortland State Athletic Hall of Fame. He earned his master's degree (health education/athletic training) at Indiana in 1967, and in addition he received a certificate in physical therapy from the Mayo Clinic in 1964.

Joe O'Toole was born November 24, 1936 in Syracuse, New York. He and his wife Rosemary live in Newnan.

Hawks trainer Joe O'Toole receives the NBA's 1995 J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award from Atlanta Journal-Constitution beat writer Jeffrey Denberg. O'Toole is the first trainer to ever win the award.

THE HISTORY OF THE ATLANTA HAWKS

From Milwaukee, to St. Louis, to Atlanta.

It was a setting made for Mark Twain. A banjo box gymnasium called Wharton Field House seating 6,000 on hardwood benches in a city, or should we say three cities, straddling the Mississippi River is where the Atlanta Hawks have their roots.

They were known as the Tri-City Blackhawks, one of the original members of the National Basketball Association after a mid-summer merger in 1949 of the 12-year-old National Basketball League and the four-year-old Basketball Association of America formed the new league.

The Illinois cities of Moline and Rock Island and Davenport, Iowa across the river formed the formal name of the neophyte Blackhawks, coached by Roger Potter.

In the opening game at Wharton Field House, the Blackhawks beat the old Denver Nuggets, 93-85. But after a string of six losses, Potter became the first former coach of the franchise, as he was replaced by Red Auerbach.

The first edition of the Blackhawks made the playoffs, despite being six games under .500, but dropped out in the first round to the Anderson Duffey Packers. Then the coach, better known as Red Auerbach, left for Boston and many green-and-white World Championship banners.

After two years and a grammatical change to Tri-Cities, the Blackhawks packed their bags and moved to Milwaukee. They shortened the nickname to the Hawks and struggled for four years, never winning more than 27 games and finishing last each season. But it was in Milwaukee where the Hawks made a draft choice that would solidify the franchise for years to come.

His name was Bob Pettit. A first-round draft choice from Louisiana State in 1954, Pettit played his entire 11-year career with the Hawks, moving with the club to St. Louis in 1955. He wrote nearly every record in the Hawks' record book and was a four-time MVP of the annual NBA All-Star game, more times than any other player in history.

From 1957 through 1961, the Hawks won five consecutive Western Conference titles. Pettit was the star of the show and had an excellent supporting cast with Cliff Hagan, Slater Martin, Charley Share and Ed Macauley.

In 1958, the Hawks captured their lone World Championship by defeating Boston, four games to two. On three other occasions during the five-year stretch, the Hawks advanced to the finals only to lose to the Celtics each time.

For no apparent reason, the Hawks turned sour during the 1961-62 season and had it not been for the expansion of the Chicago Packers, the club would have gone from first to last in just one year. It was the only spring the Hawks failed to qualify for the playoffs in the 13 seasons they spent in St. Louis.

Fortunately for the franchise, Harry Gallatin, the former All-Pro with the New York Knickerbockers, took over the reins the following season and guided the Hawks to a second-place finish and back into the playoffs. For his efforts, Gallatin became the first recipient of the NBA's Coach of the Year award.

But Gallatin couldn't put the Hawks back on top and was replaced in the middle of the 1964-65 season by Richie Guerin, another Knick standout. The club again made the playoffs but was upset in the opening round by the Baltimore Bullets, a team which finished under .500 and eight games behind the Hawks during the regular season.

After the playoff loss, Pettit took off his uniform for the last time. He wound up his career with a 26.4 scoring average topped by a 31.1 mark during the disappointing '61-'62 campaign. His rebounding standards were even more incredible, a career average of 16.2, and a single-season high of 20.3 set during the 1960-61 season. He was named first-team All-Pro in his first ten seasons in the league, and second-team in his 11th and final season. In 1970, Pettit was enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame, and his uniform #9 has been retired.

The Hawks were becoming a young team as was characterized by the early Pettit-led teams. A year later, Hagan was gone, representing the last remaining link to the '58 Championship team.

In their places were Lou Hudson, the number one pick in 1966, Zelmo Beaty, Joe Caldwell, Lenny Wilkens and Bill Bridges. By 1968, the Hawks added another Western Conference title with a record of 56-26 — at that time the best in the team's history — and Guerin became the Hawks' second Coach of the Year.

Then came the shocker.

TEAM HISTORY

During the broadcast of an Atlanta Braves baseball game, announcer Milo Hamilton told Atlanta fans the city was going to have a professional basketball team. It was, of course, the Hawks, a perennial NBA powerhouse, moving from St. Louis to Atlanta.

Bringing the team to the South were two of Atlanta's and Georgia's most respected gentlemen, businessman Thomas G. Cousins and former governor Carl E. Sanders. They acquired the club from Ben Kerner.

Skeptics viewed the move as one of disaster since Atlanta had no facility for professional basketball and noted that the area was a hotbed for football, and there was not room for both sports.

It goes without saying that they were wrong on both counts.

The Hawks received permission to play their games in Alexander Memorial Coliseum on the Georgia Tech campus until a new arena could be constructed. Five years later that realization came true when The Omni was completed.

Under Guerin, the Hawks were sensational the first two years in Atlanta. They won the Western Conference title again in 1970 and advanced to the conference finals both seasons before losing to the star-studded Los Angeles Lakers.

With the emergence of the American Basketball Association came the fall of the Hawks. The new league raided the NBA teams, offering big money to the NBA stars in order to build credibility. Beatty was the first to jump in 1969, and Caldwell followed a year later.

Though the Hawks drafted Pete Maravich, the college scoring champion from Louisiana State, in 1970, the team struggled into the playoffs the next two seasons. The club finished ten games under .500 each year and couldn't get past the first round of the playoffs.

For the 1972-73 season, the Hawks moved into The Omni, then a 16,500-seat structure, with a new coach, Cotton Fitzsimmons. Behind the 27.1 scoring average of Hudson, the Hawks responded to the new surroundings by reversing the record of the previous year.

The next year, however, the Hawks failed to make a playoff appearance for the first time in 12 seasons, and second in 19. Only another expansion team, this time the New Orleans Jazz, kept the club from plummeting into last place. The first move to rectify the situation was to trade Maravich to New Orleans for a slew of draft choices.

Owning the first and third selections in the 1975 NBA College Draft, the Hawks chose David Thompson from North Carolina State and Marvin Webster from Morgan State. The NBA-ABA bidding war was at its peak and both players opted for the Denver Nuggets of the rival league.

Disaster soon followed.

The team lost 51 games, the most in thirteen years, and tumbled into last place for the first time since the team left Milwaukee. Fitzsimmons lost his job eight games from the end (1975-76).

The bright spot on the club was the emergence of John Drew, a second-round pick in 1974, as one of the premier offensive players in the league. Drew, who was Basketball Weekly's Rookie of the Year for 1974-75 while leading the league in offensive rebounds, averaged 21.4 points per game in his second season.

Rumors abounded that a move was imminent, and that a new owner was soon to purchase the team; but Hubie Brown, who coached the Kentucky Colonels to the 1975 NBA Championship, took over the team and promptly began to change the team's image. Midway through the 1976-77 season (January '77), half of the rumor became reality as R.E. "Ted" Turner, owner of the Braves and WTCG-TV, bought the club but stated the team would remain in Atlanta.

Hudson, an 11-year veteran of 730 NBA games, all in a Hawks uniform, was traded to Los Angeles (Lakers) as a youth movement was instituted. The #23 worn by Hudson was retired on the Lakers' first visit to the Omni, marking the second Hawks number to be retired. The two men so honored to that point, Pettit and Hudson, shared the Atlanta record for the most points scored in one game: 57.

Brown's first team suffered through a difficult initial year ('76-'77) by finishing in sixth place in their division with a 31-51 record. The team made a dramatic turnaround just one year later (1977-78), becoming the Cinderella team of the NBA, by advancing to the playoffs for the first time in five years. Brown was named NBA Coach of the Year as the fans became "Hubie's Sixth Man." In addition to Brown's coaching, Atlanta's move forward was sparked by two rookies who would have an impact in the team's history for years to come.

Seven-foot-two center Wayne "Tree" Rollins was selected by the Hawks in the first round of the NBA draft to secure the middle for the team. The Hawks' other impact pick was 6-2 guard Eddie Johnson. These two additions, along with a proven veteran like Drew, would comprise the nucleus of the team.

The Hawks were again playoff participants in 1978-79, but it was just a building block for the following season. Atlanta added forward Dan Roundfield that season and his play, along with the other players, brought the Central Division title to Atlanta in 1979-80. The squad finished with a 50-32 mark, and a first-place finish for the first time in nine years, and three players, Drew, Johnson and Roundfield, participated in the 1980 NBA All-Star game.

After just one season at the top, the Hawks fell 20 games under the .500 mark (1980-81), finishing 31-51 and out of the playoffs for the first time in four years.

Atlanta replaced Brown as coach with former New York/New Jersey Nets coach Kevin Loughery, and he led the Hawks back to the playoffs during both of his seasons in Atlanta (1981-82 and 1982-83) before leaving the team following his final year for another coaching position.

The Hawks' biggest move during Loughery's tenure was made off the court on September 3, 1982. The team traded players John Drew and Freeman Williams plus cash to the Utah Jazz in exchange for Dominique Wilkins, who they had selected that year in the NBA draft. Wilkins, a former All-American player at the University of Georgia, was a unanimous choice to the NBA All-Rookie first team in his rookie season, which was a preview of coming attractions.

Former Hawks assistant Michael Fratello was named to succeed Loughery as the Atlanta franchise's fifth head coach, and he promptly led the Hawks to their third consecutive playoff appearance in 1983-84.

Seeking to change their fortunes and join the NBA elite teams, Atlanta implemented their second youth movement. The Hawks introduced a three-year rebuilding plan in 1984-85 that would hopefully bring the team closer to a championship.

The movement started with the Hawks dealing Roundfield to the Detroit Pistons for forwards Cliff Livingston and Antoine Carr and two future draft picks. Roundfield concluded his six-year career with three All-Star seasons and a 17.6 points-per-game average. In addition to acquiring the youthful forwards, Atlanta drafted another big man in 7-0 center Kevin Willis of Michigan State. Willis' size and speed for an inside player would give the Hawks added depth in the frontcourt. The task of rebuilding was a long and difficult process for Fratello and the Hawks that season as the club finished 34-48 and out of the playoffs for only the second time in eight years.

As a result of missing the playoffs, there was some consolation as the team prepared for the '85-'86 season. The Hawks were allowed to participate in the NBA's first draft lottery (where the seven teams not making the playoffs were allowed to draw for the top seven picks in the 1985 draft), and with the fifth selection, Atlanta grabbed another seven-footer, SMU's Jon Koncak.

One of Atlanta's interesting free agent signings that season was 5-7 guard Anthony "Spud" Webb from N.C. State. A diminutive athlete who defied the odds of making an NBA roster, Webb electrified fans throughout the league with his speed and incredible jumping ability (42 inches). That talent was showcased at the 1986 NBA All-Star Weekend, as Webb defeated his teammate and defending champion Wilkins in the '86 Slam Dunk contest.

Despite the loss of his "crown," Wilkins became the first Atlanta player to lead the NBA in scoring after averaging 30.3 points in '85-'86. He was also honored with his first appearance in the NBA All-Star game, and he was also named to the first-team All-NBA squad.

As a team, the Hawks tied franchise marks for most wins in a season (50) and best home record (34-7), and their 50-32 record, which was second in the Central Division, was the league's biggest turnaround (+16 games) from the previous campaign. For his efforts, Fratello was named Haggard/NBA Coach of the Year.

With the high expectations of the 1986-87 season awaiting them, the Hawks provided another year of outstanding play. A franchise record 57 wins capped an extraordinary season that saw Atlanta win the Central Division title. With the third-best record in the NBA, the Hawks established themselves among the league's elite teams, and with the combination of talent and athletic ability, they became one of the NBA's most popular teams. Wilkins finished second among the league's leaders in scoring with a 29.0 average, and was voted an All-Star starter for the first time in his career (his second appearance overall).

Several individual records were also established as Glenn "Doc" Rivers broke Atlanta's single-season assist record with 823, which also ranked him fourth in the NBA (10.0 average). Rollins moved into second place on the NBA's all-time blocked shots list, and Mike McGee set an all-time team mark for three-point goals (86) and attempts (229). The team made the playoffs for the second straight season and defeated Indiana in the first round, but faltered in the second round and lost to the Detroit Pistons.

The following season ('87-'88), the Hawks were replaced as division champs by Detroit, as Atlanta concluded the season four games out of first place with a 50-32 record. Highlighting the year's achievements was the first appearance by a Hawks coach in the annual NBA All-Star game, as Mike Fratello earned the spot after Atlanta placed the best record in the Eastern Conference over the first half of the season. Joining Fratello on the victorious East squad were Wilkins and Rivers, who scored 29 and nine points respectively.

An exciting seven-game second-round playoff series against Boston ended the Hawks' quest for a possible championship series berth, but Atlanta followers, who during the season set new attendance records in The Omni, anxiously awaited the start of the 1988-89 year as the Hawks made two off-season acquisitions to challenge for the NBA championship.

With the addition of Moses Malone and Reggie Theus, many prognosticators around the country believed the Hawks would pose a serious threat for the club's second NBA title, but that was prior to the monumental loss of Willis, who would miss all 82 games with a fracture in his left foot. Despite the absence of the seven-foot forward, Atlanta ended the season with its fourth straight 50-win campaign (which at that time was the longest current streak in the Eastern Conference).

But what most will remember about the Hawks' '88-'89 season is the disappointing end to their title dreams, as the Milwaukee Bucks, who were beaten in all six regular season meetings with Atlanta, upset the Hawks in the first round of the NBA playoffs, three games to two.

The Hawks continued to struggle in 1989-90 as injuries plagued the team over much of the season, forcing them to miss the playoffs for the first time in five years. With a 41-41 record, Atlanta dropped to sixth place in the Central Division.

As a result, Michael Fratello resigned as head coach on April 23, 1990 and was replaced on May 22 by former NBA player and San Antonio Head Coach Bob Weiss.

On the strength of a 22-game home winning streak, Atlanta returned to the playoffs and pushed the two-time defending champion Detroit Pistons to five games before the curtains fell on the 1990-91 season.

Weiss' coaching approach wasn't lost on Hawks fans, as well as the rest of the league, and was certainly evident in December when he was named Digital/NBA Coach of the Month as Atlanta streaked to an 11-3 record.

The season also brought improved play from Wilkins, who soared to his sixth NBA All-Star Game appearance in addition to Player of the Week (in January) and Month (in February) honors. While leading the team in scoring for the eighth straight season, he led the team for the first time in rebounding, and finished third in assists.

Unfortunately for the Hawks, January 28, 1992 was the telling blow of the 1991-92 season. Prior to that evening's game against Philadelphia, Wilkins was selected as a reserve for the Eastern Conference All-Star Game and was looking forward to the opportunity to become the 17th player in league history to reach the 20,000-point level. In the second quarter (with 5:32 remaining), the 6-8 forward, whose 28.1 scoring average trailed only Chicago's Michael Jordan, suffered a ruptured right achilles tendon injury which forced him to miss the remainder of the season.

At the time, Atlanta's record was 22-20. Without their veteran, the Hawks finished 16-24 and surprisingly, only one game away from making the 1992 NBA Playoffs. It came down to the final regular season game of the season, and if not for a 112-108 loss at Cleveland, Weiss' squad would have capped off an injury-filled campaign by earning an opening round playoff berth against Chicago.

Not only were the Hawks without the services of Wilkins for the final 40 games, but the outside shooting of Travis Mays was absent for 80 games after he suffered tendon problems in his right ankle after the second game of the year.

While deserving of an All-Star position prior to replacing his fallen teammate, center Kevin Willis' production was worthy of praise. After years of unfulfilled expectations, he led Atlanta in scoring (18.3), rebounding (15.5) and minutes played (2,962). His work on the boards (which also placed him second in the NBA) enabled him to become Atlanta's all-time season rebounding leader (1,258), and his 33 rebounds against Washington was an Atlanta game record.

The 1992-93 season saw the previous season's goal attained: the Hawks finished 43-39 and met the Chicago Bulls in the first round of the playoffs. An appearance in the playoffs had alternately seemed likely and impossible throughout this tumultuous season. To begin the season, Wilkins returned to the court after his career-threatening achilles injury to score his 20,000th point and become only the 17th NBA player to do so. Atlanta gained a true point guard from the New Jersey Nets as Rumeal Robinson was traded away for Nets guard Mookie Blaylock. Blaylock provided the leadership and ball distribution that the Hawks so desperately needed, and the season showed potential.

Although the first half of the season was spent in the depths of mediocrity, there were some bright spots. On February 2, Wilkins scored 31 points against Seattle to become the franchise's all-time leading scorer by breaking Bob Pettit's long-standing record of 20,880. Also in February, Wilkins made his eighth appearance on the Eastern Conference's All-Star Team. In March the team went 12-3 and Weiss was named NBA Coach of the Month. But that's where the team faltered. Unable to match their March efforts, the Hawks finished April with a 5-7 record and a number seven ranking for the playoffs. Slated to face the Bulls in the first round, the games went quickly, with Chicago sweeping the Hawks in three enroute to their third-straight NBA title.

Immediately after the season, the Hawks announced that Weiss would not have his contract extended. The search for a new coach began in April and ended on June 1, when former Cleveland Cavaliers Head Coach Lenny Wilkens rejoined the franchise. Wilkens, who spent eight years with the Hawks in St. Louis and entered the 1993-94 season 69 victories behind Arnold "Red" Auerbach's league-record total of 938 career coaching wins, brought longtime assistant coaches Dick Helm and Brian Winters with him in the move to Atlanta and began to look at the talent he was handed. With the draft at hand and a #15 first-round pick, Wilkens' options were not too plentiful. However, Wilkens and his braintrust selected Florida State's Doug Edwards, a 6-7 forward known for his defense and passing, a perfect complement to the Hawks' squad.

While it was believed Wilkens and his staff would improve the Hawks fortunes, no one imagined the results would be so immediate. The 1993-94 season brought the franchise's third Central Division championship, a 57-25 record (the best in the Eastern Conference), and the first IBM/NBA Coach of the Year award for Wilkens, who also earned his fourth All-Star coaching assignment by leading the Eastern Conference All-Stars during the 1994 Game in Minneapolis.

In addition to equalling the team record for wins in a season, the Hawks set a new Atlanta record for most home victories in a year with 36 and finished one win shy (with 21) of tying the team record for road triumphs.

The Hawks also established additional new team standards defensively (FG percentage allowed and opponents' scoring average), as Wilkens emphasized that fact repeatedly during the season. Individually, that effort led Blaylock, who finished third in the NBA in steals, to a first team all-Defensive honor, becoming the first Hawks player to earn that distinction since Wayne "Tree" Rollins did in 1983-84.

Blaylock's season was also highlighted by his first appearance in the NBA All-Star Game, joining fellow teammate Wilkins and the Hawks coaching staff on the Eastern Conference squad. For Wilkins however, his All-Star showing would be his last in an Atlanta uniform, when on February 24, the Hawks traded their future Hall-of-Famer and a number one draft pick to the Los Angeles Clippers for Danny Manning, ending a spectacular 12-year career in Hot-lanta. Wilkins, who began the 1994-95 season in Boston, concluded his days in Atlanta as the franchise leader in numerous categories including games played (882), minutes played (32,542), steals (1,245), points scored (23,292) and scoring average (26.4).

Unfortunately for the Hawks, not only did they lose their most prolific scorer ever in Wilkins, but at season's end they were also without the services of Manning, who (as an unrestricted free agent) elected to take a contract offer from the Phoenix Suns.

The 1994-95 season began with a bang, as two games into the season the Hawks traded Kevin Willis, who ranked among Hawks all-time leaders in every rebounding category. In exchange for Willis and a future first-round pick, Atlanta received Steve Smith and Grant Long from the Miami Heat, who helped form the cornerstone for the future of the franchise.

Adjusting to the change in team chemistry didn't come easily. The Hawks came out of the gates slowly for the second consecutive year, before eventually recovering to the .500 mark (30-30) on March 10.

The highlight of the season was Lenny Wilkens' pursuit of Red Auerbach's all-time NBA wins mark of 939. Going into the season needing 12 wins to tie the mark, the Hawks gave him win number 938 on December 29 against the San Antonio Spurs, 127-121 in overtime.

After trying unsuccessfully three times to deliver the record breaking win, the stage was set for a home game against the Washington Bullets on January 6. Behind 23 points from Ken Norman, Atlanta pulled away early, eventually winning 112-90. Before the following home game (the next night against New Jersey), NBA commissioner David Stern was on hand to participate in the celebration commemorating the record.

Riding the momentum gathered by the excitement surrounding the record, the Hawks came to life. After the mid-season break, they went 22-14, including 11-4 at The Omni, where they were just 13-13 before the break.

Going into the playoffs, Atlanta was playing their best ball of the season, getting solid contributions all around. Mookie Blaylock and Smith had become one of the most formidable backcourt tandems in the league, while Andrew Lang was playing the best and most consistent basketball of his pro career.

Unfortunately for the Hawks, their first round opponent was the Central Division champion (and Atlanta arch-rival) Indiana Pacers, a tough, veteran club as well. After the Pacers put the Hawks out of the playoffs the previous year, Atlanta was hoping to return the favor. However, the Pacers were on top of their game and swept the Hawks, 3-0.

Going into the 1995-96 season, the Hawks hoped to return to the upper echelon of the Eastern Conference as their nucleus continues to grow stronger with experience. Atlanta felt they had the right mix to contend again immediately.

The season began on a high note, as Atlanta went 9-5 the first month of the season, including taking three of four on a West Coast road trip. They followed that up with a disappointing 4-10 month of December, as they entered 1996 at 13-15.

The season turned for the better on the night of January 7, as the team was stranded in New Jersey, due to the Blizzard of '96. After having a contest with the Nets postponed, the Hawks proceeded to come home, beat Sacramento, and reel off 10 consecutive wins.

At mid-season, the Hawks orchestrated a trade that would once again reshape the future of the franchise for years to come. On February 22, Atlanta sent Andrew Lang and Spud Webb to the Minnesota Timberwolves in exchange for Christian Laettner and Sean Rooks. The move proved to be beneficial in the present as well. Following the arrival of Laettner and Rooks, the Hawks posted an 18-12 record.

As the Hawks rolled toward the playoffs, the team hit a couple of bumps, losing three straight home games at one point in the final month of the season. But a win at Miami on the last day of the season sealed the sixth playoff spot for the Hawks, where they would face the Indiana Pacers for the third consecutive year in the playoffs.

When Reggie Miller's three-point attempt at the final buzzer rimmed out, the Hawks had prevailed in an exciting five-game series, finally defeating their nemesis. The series featured two road wins for Atlanta at Market Square Arena, where they had lost ten straight contests entering the series.

Although the Hawks fell to the Orlando Magic in the second round of the playoffs in five games (4-1), they didn't go down without a fight. Facing elimination in game four at The Omni, Steve Smith pumped in 35 points, as Atlanta pulled out a 104-99 victory. Atlanta repeatedly came back in game five at Orlando Arena, before finally succumbing to the Magic.

The season's bright spots were hard to ignore. Smith broke through to average a career-best 18.1 points per game, while backcourt mate Mookie Blaylock finished second in the NBA in steals once again and was named to the NBA's All-Defensive second team. Laettner's arrival provided added excitement and scoring, although he was forced to play center (his natural position is power forward) in his initial campaign with the Hawks.

The acquisition of Dikembe Mutombo over the summer gives Atlanta the big defensive presence in the middle they have lacked since "Tree" Rollins. Mutombo's combination of shot blocking and rebounding ability is unparalleled in the NBA. He will provide immediate help to the Hawks' frontcourt, teaming with Laettner, second-year forward Alan Henderson and rookie Priest Lauderdale.

As the 1996-97 season begins, the Hawks feature four All-Star caliber players and Dream Team III head coach Lenny Wilkens at the helm. Expectations are high as the franchise heads toward the 21st century.

As the Hawks enter their 29th year in Atlanta, the organization appreciates your efforts and extends its cooperation to assist you in your duties. In an effort to continue a smooth and efficient operation this season, the following rules have been established:

GENERAL: Additional Hawks information and photographs are available by contacting the Media Relations Department at (404) 827-3800. To send a FAX to the Hawks Media Relations offices, you may call (404) 827-4229.

CREDENTIALS: Single-game credentials (press and photo) must be requested to Arthur Triche no later than 12 noon the day before the game (Friday noon for Sunday games). Pre-arranged credentials may be picked up at the press door on the lower level beneath Gate B of the Omni Coliseum. Credentials are good for admittance to the arena, media room, and home and visiting locker rooms. Those regularly assigned to the Hawks and the opposing teams will be seated at courtside, and those requesting single-game credentials will be seated on a first-come, first-served basis. Guests are not allowed.

MEDIA: MEMBERS HOLDING HAWKS SEASON PASSES SHOULD NOTIFY THE MEDIA RELATIONS DEPARTMENT IF PLANNING TO COVER A GAME IN ORDER TO RECEIVE PROPER SEATING.

MEDIA LOUNGE: The Hawks Media Lounge is located to the left corridor of the press table (as you are seated), and left of the corridor which leads to the Hawks locker room. The Media Lounge will be open 90 minutes prior to game time, at halftime and following the game. We must limit press room usage to members of the media only when a valid Hawks press pass is presented. Telephones are available for filing purposes in the Media Lounge after the contest.

MEDIA PARKING: Since space is limited for media parking, the nearest parking availability is located across The Omni at the CNN/The Decks parking garage. It is recommended that you arrive early enough to acquire a parking spot.

SERVICES: Game notes will be available in the press lounge 90 minutes prior to game time, or at the table in the corner of the area adjacent to the Hawks dressing room. Games statistics (play-by-play, quarter stats and halftime box scores) will be delivered to the press table, while final boxes and fourth quarter play-by-plays will be available in the Media Lounge after the game.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Season passes will be provided to accredited photographers from Atlanta-area daily newspapers and television stations. Photographers from weekly newspapers and magazines must request single-game passes from the Director of Media Relations. Freelance photographers wishing credentials must submit a letter citing a specific assignment from a publication to obtain working passes. Photographers are allowed only within the lines at each end of the court. Remember, spectators are seated directly behind you and court vision must not be hindered. In addition, photographers are not allowed in the Hawks' or opponents' locker room.

LOCKER ROOMS: In accordance with NBA policy, the Hawks locker room will be open to members of the media up to 45 minutes before game time, and 10 minutes after the end of the game. Only working members of the press with valid credentials will be admitted to the locker rooms. Media members are asked to refrain from asking for player autographs.

COMMUNICATIONS SERVICES: The Hawks provide communications/facsimile service in the auxiliary press offices after the game, please check with a member of the Hawks Media Relations staff to see if there is a fee attached.

STEVE HOLMAN

Radio Voice of the Hawks

Beginning his 12th season as a member of the Hawks Broadcast Team, Steve Holman will man the play-by-play mikes for his eighth full season on the Atlanta Hawks Radio Network.

The 42-year old Holman, who joined WSB Radio prior to the 1995-96 season, had done play-by-play and color commentary on Hawks broadcasts for three-and-a-half seasons before taking over the play-by-play responsibilities full-time in 1989.

Along with his duties as Voice of the Hawks, Holman also handles morning drive sports on WSB Radio. During the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games, Holman was part of Westwood One's/NBC National Radio coverage of the games, calling play-by-play action for both the men's and women's gold medal basketball teams in addition to boxing.

Holman, who has been involved in the NBA since the early 1970's when he was broadcast assistant to the Boston Celtics' late play-by-play legend Johnny Most, came to Atlanta radio in 1980 to broadcast Falcon football.

He did color commentary for the Falcons, and handled the play-by-play on radio for the Atlanta Chiefs soccer.

Along with numerous awards for sports reporting, Holman has also won the Georgia Associated Press Award for his Hawks play-by-play coverage.

Holman and his wife Mary Jane reside in Alpharetta with their two children, Steven, Jr. and Scott. He was born March 5, 1954 in Lawrence, Massachusetts.

MIKE GLENN

SportSouth/WATL Analyst

Former Hawks guard Mike "Stinger" Glenn is back behind the mike for another year as he enters his seventh season as the analyst for SportSouth's announcing team.

The 40-year-old Glenn averaged 7.6 points over his 10-year NBA career, and 8.0 points during four seasons with the Hawks (1981-85). A two-time NBA Player of the Week recipient, he continues to hold Atlanta's single-season field goal percentage record of 58.8 percent (1984-85).

He also spent time with the New York Knicks (1978-81) and the Milwaukee Bucks (1985-87).

The Southern Illinois grad ('77) has conducted the Mike Glenn Basketball Camp for the Hearing Impaired over the last 16 years, and was the winner of the NBA's J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award in 1981 for his work with the hearing impaired.

A graduate of Coosa High School in Rome, GA, Mike Theodore Glenn resides in the Decatur area.

THE OMNI

BASKETBALL CAPACITY: 16,378

The Omni opened its doors for the first time in October of 1972. Since then an eclectic blend of events including professional and collegiate basketball, family shows, the Ringling Brothers Barnum & Bailey Circus, wrestling, motor sports, tennis, concerts, and many more have attracted more than 30 million patrons through The Omni gates. The seating capacity for The Omni is 16,378.

Over the years, The Omni has been proud to host a number of prestigious events, including the 1988 Democratic National Convention, the 1980 U.S. Figure Skating Champions, the 1977 NCAA Final Four Tournament, the ACC Tournament, the SEC Tournament, the 1984 Davis Cup semifinals vs. Argentina, and the 1993 NCAA Women's Final Four. This past summer, the Omni was the home of Olympic volleyball during the 1996 Summer Games.

Constructed at a cost of $17 million in private funding, The Omni was built and operates without tax subsidies. Turner Broadcasting System has a long-term lease to manage the facility.

The Omni is on a 9.5 acre site. It is 362 feet square, 130 feet high equivalent to a 12-story building. It contains 337,000 square feet equivalent to approximately 7.5 acres.

The concrete floor on which the basketball court is placed houses 55,000 linear feet (10.5 miles) of refrigerant piping to freeze the floor for ice skating events such as Disney On Ice and The Olympic and World Figure Skating Champions.

The unique roof structure is called an "Ortho-Quad-Truss," and consists of 25 "pods," providing a column-free span of 360 feet in both directions.

In the fall of 1989, Hawks and Omni patrons were treated to a new, state-of-the-art public address/music sound system. The concert-quality system consists of four "directional" clusters with a total of 16 bass horns, 32 mid-range horns, and 12 high-range horns.

Other Omni fan-enhancement additions include the two colorized Applause Meters/Matrix Boards and expanded center-hung scoreboard which informs patrons of individual players' points and foul totals.
